

This is Google's cache of <http://www.ipa.org.au/people/jennifer-marohasy>. It is a snapshot of the page as it appeared on 29 Jun 2009 19:00:10 GMT. The current page could have changed in the meantime. Learn more

These search terms are highlighted: jennifer marohasy

Text-only version

People & associates

Jennifer Marohasy

Portrait of Jennifer Marohasy

Senior Fellow

Dr Jennifer Marohasy is a Senior Fellow at the Institute of Public Affairs, a Director of the Australian Environment Foundation, a columnist for The Land and has her own blog at www.jennifermarohasy.com. Jennifer has a Bachelor of Science and a PhD from the University of Queensland and over a dozen research papers published in peer-reviewed scientific journals mostly from her work as a biologist in Africa during the 1980s and early 1990s. Jennifer is well known as a 'global warming sceptic' and like many of the early naturalists, including Thomas Huxley, considers scepticism important for the progress of science.

Contact details

jmarohasy@ipa.org.au

Telephone: 0418 873 222

Back to People & associates

Related publications

Imposing our preferences on whaling cultures

IPA REVIEW ARTICLE | Jennifer Marohasy

Few issues illustrate how subjective beliefs about morality distorts environmental debate more than the issue of whaling. Many environmentalists claim to be simply advocates for the sustainable use of resources; they claim that they are not in...

What's happening to the Murray River

FACTS | Jennifer Marohasy

The Murray River is Australia's longest river, and together with its tributary, the Darling River, drains an area known as the Murray Darling Basin. The region has historically received only 6 per cent of Australia's annual rainfall but produced...